

Where Does It End?

Preachers predicted it, our founders warned us about it and recent history is confirming it: when a nation leaves the guidance of God, it will suffer the ravages of rampant crime and immorality. Patrick Henry posed that if America leaves her dependence on God we would have to put a constable on every street corner.

In recent weeks America has been rocked by scandal after scandal, from Hollywood moguls to media figures to the US Congress, pervert after pervert has been brought to light. Powerful men in pitiful use of the positions have left in their wake a string of victims who are now speaking out, and rightfully so.

Often in public education and institutions of higher learning, our young people are taught various tenants of atheism, which, of course, completely undermines personal morality. That undermining eventually spreads to a national lack of genuine morals.

While both sides of the political aisle feign indignation and blame the other side, very few voice the real answer. While the non-religious leaders of America search for answers, none are found, not in this generation and not in past ones.

But the real answers, the real truths, still stare us in the face, from the pages of God's holy word. From Genesis to Revelation God clearly gives us answers that work, plans to create respect, and teachings that guide men and guard women. God teaches men to be the guardians of women, and no power short of personal godliness will cure our current curse of harassment.

Until our nation restores the truths of God to educational institutions of our children and the daily life of our leader, expect no real change. But if, and when, our nation returns God, Himself, to His rightful place as the real King, America will see a revival that will not only bring national success, it will bring protection to women nationwide. The answers are not in the ballot box, but the Holy Bible!

“Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord....” – Ps. 33:12. It was true for Israel and it is true for us today.
